

SLEEP'N Atocha, in its objective of always offering the best experience to its clients, is committed to adopting ethical, social and environmental considerations in the purchase and/or contracting of products and services for the development of its operations, minimizing negative impacts and maximizing the positive ones.

SLEEP'N Atocha considers its suppliers as a fundamental part of its commitment to sustainability, so when contracting and/or purchasing products and services it takes into account the following principles:

Priority is given to local products and services, with the aim of promoting the local economy, promoting the authenticity of the region and reducing the negative impacts of freight transport.

- Priority is given to companies that make an effort to integrate people at risk of social exclusion.
- Priority is given to products with less environmental impact in their manufacturing, use and disposal.
- Energy efficiency and water consumption criteria are followed when purchasing machinery.
- Products containing toxic substances are minimized, opting for non-harmful alternatives, including non-toxic, hypoallergenic and biodegradable.
- The purchase of disposable products is avoided, unless they are biodegradable or can be recycled.
- All wood and wood products used during the management of the building are legally harvested and marketed wood.
- We give priority to suppliers that have an environmental management system (EMS) certified by third parties.
- Priority is given to bulk products, which reduce the amount of packaging

The SLEEP'N Atocha Management is responsible for complying with this policy, signing it, reviewing it every year and encouraging the support and participation of the team, clients and other stakeholders to achieve their commitment.
